Topics discussed in the session	Description
Time Management & Productivity Hacks	Time management and productivity were essential skills that helped alumni thrive in both their academic and professional lives. During the interaction event, alumni shared personal experiences and strategies they had used to balance multiple responsibilities. They discussed practical techniques like the Pomodoro method for maintaining focus, time blocking to structure their days, and the Eisenhower Matrix for prioritizing tasks. Alumni reflected on how they had overcome procrastination, managed workplace pressures, and relied on tools like Notion or Google Calendar to stay organized.
The Power of Mentorship & Lifelong Learning	Mentorship and lifelong learning had a profound impact on alumni as they navigated their academic and professional journeys. Many alumni credited their success to mentors who had offered guidance, shared valuable experiences, and provided encouragement during pivotal moments in their careers. These mentor relationships helped alumni make informed decisions, build confidence, and develop essential skills. Lifelong learning also played a vital role, as alumni continuously sought out new knowledge through workshops, certifications, and industry events to stay relevant in an ever-evolving job market.
Essential Soft Skills for Career Success	During the alumni interaction event, speakers emphasized how essential soft skills had contributed to their career success and personal growth. They shared how communication skills had helped them collaborate effectively, present ideas confidently, and build strong professional relationships. Alumni reflected on moments when adaptability and resilience had enabled them to navigate unexpected challenges and thrive in dynamic work environments.
Work-Life Balance & Mental Health in the Workplace	Alumni shared how maintaining work-life balance and prioritizing mental health had been essential to their long-term success and well-being. They reflected on periods when demanding workloads and high-pressure environments had affected their mental health, explaining how recognizing the importance of balance had helped them prevent burnout. Alumni discussed strategies they had used, such as setting clear boundaries, managing their schedules, and making time for personal interests and relationships.

Glimpses of the workshop:

13) Risks and Mitigations:

Risks:

- Students might hesitate to ask questions or participate actively.
- Minor technical hiccups were resolved quickly.

Mitigations:

- Prepare icebreaker activities, use live polls, and collect questions in advance. Designate a moderator to encourage interaction.
- Technical Analysis before and after the session will help for smooth conduct for further sessions.
- Encourage interactivity through Q&A sessions and discussion.

14) Outcomes:

- Students gained practical knowledge about career growth, work-life balance, mentorship, and essential soft skills.
- Despite initial hesitation, icebreaker activities, live polls, and moderated discussions boosted student engagement. Many students asked thoughtful questions and connected with alumni for future guidance.
- Both students and alumni shared positive feedback, highlighting the event's organization, relevance of topics, and overall impact on their personal and professional growth.

15) Scope of improvement:

- Some students may have benefited more with prior knowledge of the topics. Sharing preparatory materials or alumni profiles before the event could help students ask more specific, insightful questions.
- Several effective approaches to enhance time management skills that can be put into practice.

16) SWOT Analysis:

Strength	Weakness	Opportunity	Threat
The event's greatest strength lay in the valuable insights shared by alumni, who provided students with practical knowledge, career guidance, and inspiration through personal experiences.	Despite its success, the event had a few areas that could be improved. Some alumni canceled or dropped out last minute, leading to adjustments in the schedule. Time management also posed a challenge, as a few sessions ran longer than expected, limiting the time available for other planned activities.	The event revealed several opportunities for growth and future improvement. Expanding the event format to include hybrid options could attract alumni from around the world, broadening the diversity of insights shared.	Despite careful planning, a few external threats could impact future events. Alumni may face last-minute professional or personal conflicts, affecting their availability.

17) Conclusion:

- The alumni interaction event concluded on a high note, leaving a lasting impact on both students and speakers.
- The event fostered meaningful connections, bridging the gap between past and present students, and opening doors for future mentorship and collaboration.
- The event was not just a gathering – it was a celebration of shared experiences, collective growth, and the enduring bond between the institution and its alumni.
